

NEWS RELEASE

For further information, contact:

Stuart Noun

Element Consulting Group

(612) 386-5600

e-mail: snoun@element-consulting.com

web: www.Element-Consulting.com

Date: January 5, 2010

For Release: Immediate

Element Consulting Group Names

Matt Mignogna

Senior Account Executive and Sales Manager

Extensive experience in ERP Solutions, Staffing and Training Services

Minneapolis, MN January 5, 2010 – Element Consulting Group, an Oracle Certified Partner, dedicated to helping clients get the most from their business process and information technology investments, announced today that it has hired Matt Mignogna to serve as Senior Account Executive and Sales Manager. Matt will be responsible for adding new corporate accounts to the Element portfolio while nurturing those organizations already considered members of the Element client-family.

Matt has spent the last 12 years working at Minneapolis based Dashe & Thomson, a company specializing in custom training solutions for large-scale software implementations often related to ERP and PLM, Matt leaves Dashe as a Vice President and Partner. During his many years at Dashe, Matt forged a long list of strategic channel partnerships and alliances with nationally recognized software companies, and he has built many long-standing and trusting client relationships. In addition, Matt was the primary architect of the Dashe & Thomson growth strategy and played a key role in developing its solution-based consulting model. Prior to joining Dashe & Thomson, Matt was based in New York City, where he held National Account Manager positions for Fairchild Publishing and John Wiley & Sons.

“Element Consulting is the right company at the right time. Their product offering is perfectly suited for today’s skittish buyer – clients need to demonstrate an ROI for every dollar spent, Element Consulting understands this and it is reflected in the speed-to-value enjoyed by current clients and in the obscene number of repeat customers “ stated Mignogna. “I look forward to a long and productive stay at Element. Happy New Year!”

About Element Consulting

Element Consulting Group is a professional services firm that offers solutions, staffing, and an innovative approach to managed services. Since 1992, we’ve been helping companies develop and execute strategies within these main practice areas: Enterprise Resource Planning, Enterprise Content Management, Workforce Management, Managed Services, and Project Management & Business Analysis. The principals of Element Consulting Group have a combined 60 years of experience with former software vendors, management consulting firms, large Systems Integrators, and Fortune 500 companies.